SURE TAX VETO SPURS BATTLE

AUSTRIA'S BID FOR U.N. MEMBERSHIP IS OPPOSED BY RUSSIA

SECURITY COUNCIL IS SCENE OF NEW U.S., RUSSIAN DISPUTE

BY LARRY HAUCK

LAKE SUCCESS, July 10.—(AP)—Russia raised firm objections in the Security council today against consideration of Austria's application for United Nations membership.

However, the application was sent without vote to the council's membership committee, which also holds bids from Italy and Hungary.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko pointed out the peace treaty with Austria has not been signed and said he could not discuss Austria's qualifications at this time.

U. S. Deplores Situation.

Herschel V. Johnson, deputy American delegate, replied that it was unfortunate that a treaty which would regularize relations with Austria had been "retarded for reasons well known to the world." He said this was a "most unfortunate situation."

Drafting of the Austrian treaty has been snarled in the long negotiations over a peace past with Germany, with the major share of the delays generally attributed to Russian refusal to agre with other major allied powers.

Johnson also noted that it had been agreed in Moscow in 1944 that Austria would not be considered as an ex-enemy state since she was a victim of aggression.

Gromyko lost a preliminary test when the council voted 9 to 0, with Russia and Australia abstaining, to place the Austrian application on its clendar for discussion.

Move For U. S. To Lead U.N. Changes Said 'Premature'

WASHINGTON, July 10—(AP)—Senators George (D-Ga) and Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said today that a proposal by 22 members of congress that the United States lead a movement to strengthen the United Nations is premature.

Congress said the suggestion is "a bad move at a bad time" and one that might bring an end to the U. N.

Hickenlooper said it would mark the U. N. prematurely with having failed. He added that he wants to give the international organization more time to see if it can reach agreement on world atomic controls.

George and Hickenlooper are members of the senate foreign relations committee. Hickenlooper also heads the senate-house atomic energy committee.

Strengthening the U. N. is the avowed purpose of resolutions offered in different form by 12 senators and 10 house members of both parties.

Behind each of these proposals,

Jinnah Will Rule One Indian State; Mountbatten Other

LONDON, July 10.—(AP)—Mahomed Ali Jinnah, India's Moslem league leader, has been recommended as governor general of the new Dominion of Pakistan to be created Aug. 15, and Viscount Mountbatten, present viceroy, as governor general of India, Prime Minister Attlee announced today.

Attlee made his announcement in moving the second, decisive reading in the House of Commons of the government bill to grant a divided dominion status next month.

He said that while the formal announcement could not be made until the act was formally passed, the king had intimated he would be prepared to accept the recommendations of Jinnah and Lord Mountbatten as governors general.

Reds Block Czech Part In Aid

PRAGUE, July 10—(AP)—Czechoslovakia tonight withdrew her acceptance of the invitation to t..e European Economic conference.

Paris on the ground that participation might be construed as an action against the Soviet Union.

The government informed the British, French and United States embassies in Prague that Czechoslovakia could not "under our situation" accept the Anglo-French invitation to discuss the Marshall aid-to-Europe proposals. Czechoslovakia had stated three days ago that she would be represented.

The withdrawal was reported reliably to have been the result of telephoned instructions from Communist Premier Klement Gottwald, who is in Moscow for talks with Prime Minister Stalin.

The cabinet had gone into hasty special session after the call, informants close to the government said.

Czechoslovakia's withdrawal virtually completed boycott of the talks by Russia and the states within her orbit in Eastern Europe.

Finland, Albania Silent.

Only Finland and Albania still were to be heard from, and there seemed little likelihood that either would accept.

Hungary today joined Bulgaria, Romania, Yugoslavia and Poland in rejecting the British-French invitation to the talks.

Fourteen other nations already have accepted the invitation to the Paris conversations, opening Saturday. Today is the deadline for replies.

The Prague cabinet session came only 72 hours after the Czechoslovaks decided, apparently of their own volition, to accept the Paris invitation with some reservations.

Statement Rumored Soon.

The reasons which might have prompted Premier Gottwald to call from Moscow with a request for a withdrawal could not be ascertained here immediately.

(In Moscow, reliable sources at the Czechoslovak embassy said a

Third Rare Fever Case Is Reported; Victim Recovers

Another victim of Rocky Mountain spotted fever—a rare disease a long way from its natural home—has been reported to the Texas State Department of Health by Dr. Will Miller, acting director of the Corsicana-Navarro health unit.

Dr. Miller announced Thursday that the illness of Carolyn Tinker, five-and-a-half year old duaghter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Tinker, had been diagnosed as the strange fever, and all information sent to the Texas State Department of Health.

Girl Recovers Nicely

The girl has been in a local hospital for several days, Dr. Miller said, but was dismissed yesterday. She recovered from the illness, he said.

The state health department recently confirmed the cause of death of a girl and the serious illness of her brother as Rocky Mountain spotted fevre.

Lives Near Others

The latest victim lives about two or three city blocks from the home where the other children lived, it was said.

"The cases are similar," Dr. Miller said. "The new victim had been bitten by a tick about 10 days before fever started. The same symptoms are apparent, a rash and high fever. Clinically the cases are almost identical."

TWO TEXAS CHILDREN AMONG 3 BURNED TO DEATH IN COLORADO

STONEWALL, Colo., July 10.—(AP)—Three small children died in flames which quickly destroyed a three-room mountain cabin here last night after the explosion of a kerosene stove.

The victims were John McCoy, 6, and his baby brother, Davis, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Mack McCoy of Amarillo, Texas, and Dixie Sue Conger, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Deroy Conger of Stonewall.

Mrs. McCoy, mother of the two boys, was brought to a Trinidad hospital suffering from burns and severe shock. Several men of this Southern Colorado mountain community who made vain efforts to rescue the children also were burned.

Bodies In Ashes.

Bodies of the three victims were retrieved from the ashes of the cabin by Sheriff's officers several hours later.

Mrs. McCoy and her children arrived here several days ago to visit the Conger family while her husband was in the East on business.

The Congers had gone to Camp Picketwire, a tourist resort a short distance from the cabin, and Mrs. McCoy was alone with the children at the time of the blast. The children were trapped by flames which immediately enveloped the cabin.

McCoy was contacted by telephone at Clarion, Pa., and was en route here today by plane. His wife collapsed as she attempted to tell him of the tragedy and friends gave him the story.

NEW TEXAS JUDGE THANKS HIS CHAMPION—U. S. District Court Judge Joe B. Dooley (right) thanks Sen. Tom Connally (D-Texas) for his aid in winning senate confirmation of President Truman's appointment of Dooley for the Northern Texas District bench. Mrs. Dooley looks on at the capitol in Washington after the senate vote.

Connally Spikes O'Daniel Charges On Dooley

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex) said last night that appointment of Joe B. Dooley of Amarillo, Tex., as judge of the Northern District of Texas was "not political."

Connally said he was gratified that Dooley was confirmed. Connally recommended the Amarillo lawyer and he was confirmed Tuesday by a 48-36 vote.

Dooley's appointment was fought by Texas Senator O'Daniel.

Connally said in a 600-word statement that "only two Democrats other than Senator O'Daniel who were present and voting voted against him."

"In order that the question may be fully understood by the people of Texas," Connally said, "I desire to say that the appointment by the president of Mr. Dooley was in no way a political appointment."

He said it was "a routine appointment to fill a vacancy in a judiciary."

CHURCH BUILDING IS OFFERED BY CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIANS FOR SALE — HISTORY COLORFUL

BY BOB CAMPBELL
Daily Sun Staff.

For Sale—One church.

Ninety-four years ago there was a Rev. John Patton who mightily wanted a place to worship.

In the then struggling town of Corsicana there was the log courthouse in which all faiths could—if they wanted to—worship.

The Rev. John Patton gathered his flock around him, and told them just how mightily he wanted a regular place for services.

First Group Here.

There were many stalwart persons among that batch of Presbyterians. Twenty persons attended the meeting, and the Cumberland Presbyterian Church became the first definite religious band to organize.

Thursday the "For Sale" ad was put out by the still small but strong Cumberland Presbyterians.

Mrs. Ira Boltz, 1446 West Fifth avenue, a member of the congregation announced that the church could no longer stand the pressure of downtown parking, and that it would sell its 50x100 foot lot together with the building now located on Twelfth St. in the 100 block.

Stained Glass Windows.

The beautiful little church with its stained glass front windows is hemmed in by a motor car agency on the one side, and the American Legion building on the other.

Mrs. Boltz said that the church is seeking a residential lot on which to raise another Cumberland Presbyterian church.

The history of Corsicana and the history of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church became entwined a long, long time ago.

As said, the Rev. Patton wanted his brother Cumberland Presbyterians banded together, and he wanted a house erected in the name of God.

First of Logs.

He got it. It was built of logs, and it was used by all denominations for some time. The Rev. N. P. Modrall was the first regular pastor, and he got $150 a year for preaching once a month.

The first church faced north on what was then Main St., but is now Second Avenue.

The Cumberlands erected a brick church about 1874 at Fourth Ave., and Thirteenth St. It was a strict church—the men sat on one side and the women on the other, and the elders kept their eyes peeled

Oil Allowable For Texas Is Increased By 79,033 Barrels

AUSTIN, Tex., July 10—(AP)—The railroad commission today issued an order raising crude oil production alolwables 79,033 barrels per day during the remainder of July and August.

Most of the increase, 72,256 barrels per day, was allocated to West Texas fields.

"Every demand or request for oil made at yesterday's oil hearing held here has been met fully by the Texas Railroad Commission order which became effective at 7 a. m., today," commission Chairman Ernest O. Thompson said.

At yesterday's hearing both major and minor refiners of Texas crude had asked increased allowables in West Texas to meet what Thompson described as a "pnenomenal demand" for oil products.

They testified that they now have transportation facilities, both through increased pipeline capacity and tank car trains, to move crude out of the West Texas area, previously bottlenecked by transportation shortages.

The commission's order changes calendar day per-barrel allowables as follows, by districts and fields:

District 1—Southwest Texas—Green Branch Field, up 144.

District 2—Southwest Texas—Roche Field, up 579.

District 3—Gulf coast—McCoy Field, up 459; Thompson Field, up 4,386.

District 4—Southwest Texas Cam Field, up 462; Charco Redondo (East) Field, up 100; Holbein Field, up 145.

District 6—East Texas (outside)—Norman Paul Field, up 91.

District 8.—West Texas—Magee Field, up 1,313, Wasson Field, up 8,974; Andector Field, up 572; Bedford (Ellenberger) Field, up 310; Bedford (Devonian) Field, up 232; Foster Field, up 9,237; Jones Ranch Field, up 232; Means Field, up 1,844; Robertson Field, up 87; Welch Field, up 1,363; Wheeler (Devonian) Field, up 912; aNorth Cowden (deep) Field, down 465; North Cowden Field, up 2,182; Celroy Field, up 3,038; TXL (Ellenberger) Field, up 1,414; Embar (Ellenberger) Field, up 706; Yates Field, up 6,313; Goldsmith Field, up 3,148; Seminole Field, up 2,778; TXL (Devonian) Field, up 5,084; increase in all other district 8 fields resulting from increasing their producing days from 21 to 25, up 23,009.

District 9—North Texas-Antelope Field, up 411.

COAL PACT RESULTS OVERALL ECONOMIC REPORT SUBMITTED

PRESIDENT RECEIVES HALF-YEAR SUMMATION BY SPECIAL COUNCIL

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—President Truman received from his economic advisory council today a report appraising the possible effects of John L. Lewis' new coal contract on the cost-of-living.

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the three-man council, said the report will be discussed with the entire cabinet at the White House tomorrow. He said it likely will be made public later.

Nourse declinned to indicate the council's findings which were embraced in a mid-year report.

Coal Contract Considered.

"Does it take into consideration the new coal wage contract and its possible influence on the wage-price spiral?" Nourse was asked.

"Oh yes, we are awake," Nourse replied. "We read the papers."

The question referred to the new contract Lewis has signed with bituminous coal operators in behalf of his 400,000 United Mine Workers. It gives them their highest wages in history.

Mr. Truman himself at his news conference declined comment on the agreement, saying it was a matter between the mine operators and workers.

Legal Action Unlikely.

The administration meanwhile, however, showed no signs of reopening the mine wage controversy by proceeding against the operators under the Taft-Hartley labor act as Rep. Hartley (R-NJ) declared it could do.

The co-author of the union curb measure insisted in a house speech late yesterday that the contract provision under which the mine owners agree not only to check off union dues but initiation fees and assessments as well is a "clear violation of the act."

Miners Work Over Most Of Nation As Contracts Signed

PITTSBURGH, July 10—(AP)—The nation's bituminous production spurted toward normal today as "able and willing" AFL-miners from the North and South dug coal under terms of a new and unprecedented wage agreement.

Southern mine operators—last holdouts to the "take-it-or-leave-it" terms of John L. Lewis—capitulated yesterday. The vast West Virginia and East Kentucky bituminous mine interests signed first, leaving less than 10 percent of the nation's soft coal production unaccounted for.

However, mines in Virginia and Tennessee were described as temporarily withholding signature because they feared collision with state laws regulating the closed shop and dues checkoff.

Operators Not Worried

The only sour note came from Washington where Rep. Fred Hartley (R-NJ) co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor law, warned that coal operators risk criminal prosecution for signing the Lewis contract. He claimed it violates the new labor act.

Truman Gives Views Of Home, Global Issues

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—President Truman gave advance notice today that he intends to veto the new Republican-backed bill to cut income taxes $4,000,000,000 annually Jan. 1.

On other domestic matters Mr. Truman said:

1. He has no thought at this time of calling congress back into special session this fall to consider European aid legislation. He added, however, that if the necessity arises he will take whatever steps are necessary.

No Special Message

2. He has no intention of sending a special message to congress on Secretary of State Marshall's plan for European economy recovery. He said he cannot make recommendations until after the Paris conference on the "self-help" proposal.

3. He has no plans now for a cross country trip this fall, as urged by officers of the Democratic national committee. Moreover, he added, he has no plans for a trip anywhere.

4. He still favors the proposed Missouri River Valley Authority patterned after the TVA, but said this would not take care of the immediate problem of flood control in the midwest.

Slaughter Charge Ignored

5. That in view of the source he isn't worried about a statement of former Rep. Roger Slaughter that a "scandal threatens" the office of the president.

Slaughter, former Missouri congressman who was defeated for renomination last year by a Truman-endorsed candidate, made the assertion in an address prepared for delivery before a public affairs forum in Tulsa, Okla., today.

Slaughter said he considered Mr. Truman "personally an honest and honorable man, but "like Grant and Harding, he has been misled by false friends, and has likewise been the victim of his own impetuosity."

D-P Conference Set

Mr. Truman also said he would confer with congressional leaders Monday, particularly about the problem of displaced persons in Europe. He recently asked congress to admit a "substantial number" of these refugees to this country.

On other matters:

He said he saw no reason why congress could not adjourn July 26, but added congress understands

MILITARY TRAINING FOR HIGH SCHOOLS IS URGED BY PRIEST

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—Compulsory military training in high schools was urged at the house armed services committee hearing today by the Rev. Dan A. Laning, Catholic priest of Mission, Tex.

A buck private in World War I and a chaplain in the last war, Father Laning was one of two witnesses who supported the principle of universal military training advocated by a special presidential commission.

The other was Blake R. Van Leer, president of Georgia Tech University, Atlanta.

Opposing the proposal as the committee continued hearings that may run into next year were Kermit Eby, director of education and research for the CIO, and Rabbi Ahron Opher of New York, representating the Synagogue Council of America.

"Put military training in all our high schools, colleges and universities," Father Laning urged the committee. "Why begin at the age of 18? x x x By commencing military traning in the high school, the nation would be getting the benefit of from four to eight years of continuous training as compared to six months or a year" as advocated by the president's commission.

Rabbi Opher called for a strengthening of the United Nations as the

OVERRIDING MOVE IS SPEEDED AS TRUMAN PLANS DISAPPROVAL

G.O.P., SOME DEMOCRATS DEFIANT AS SENATE IN DEBATE ON NEW BILL

WASHINGTON, July 10—(AP)—President Truman's announcement today that he will veto the new $4,000,000,000 income tax-cutting bill spurred its congressional supporters for an intensified drive to override his forthcoming rejection.

Republican leaders, joined by some Democrats, expressed defiance in their reaction to Mr. Truman's statement at his news conference that he can see no reason to change his attitude toward the measure since it is the same bill, except for effective date, that he vetoed before.

The outburst came as the senate began consideration of the legislation which already has been passed overwhelmingly in the house.

Veto Overriding Question

Senate passage is certain but the question whether the margin will be sufficient eventually to override a veto in that chamber is uncertain. Generally congressional leaders concede the house will vote to override, since it passed the bill by a thumping 302 to 112 vote.

"It's the first time I ever knew a president to veto a bill in advance," Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the flanance committee said as he called the bill up in the senate. He told reporters he was

Bill Making House Speaker Next For Presidency Passed

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—The house passed and sent to President Truman today legislation placing the speaker of the house next in line for the presidency behind the vice-president.

The senate already has passed the measure requested by President Truman and congressional leaders forecast his prompt approval.

Currently the legislation places Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., 63-year-old bachelor and Massachusetts Republican, first in line to become president should Mr. Truman fail to finish the term. There has bene no vice president since Mr. Truman vacated that post following the death of President Roosevelv.

The legislation changes present law which designates cabinet officers—beginning with the secretary of state—next in line for the presidency immediately after the vice-president.

Corn Crop To Go Down, Wheat Up, USDA Forecasts

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—The agriculture department today forecast this year's corn crop at 2,612,809,000 bushels and all wheat at 1,435,551,000 bushels.

The corn estimate compares with last year's record of 3,287,027,000 bushels and with a ten-year (1936-45) average of 2,639,102,000.

The prospective reduction in corn reflects damage caused by spring floods and by delays in getting the crop planted due to wet weather.

Officials hope for a crop of at least 2,850,000,000 bushels. They say a crop of less than this amount would force curtailment in livestock production and prolong high prices for meats. The government's goal is 3,000,000,000 bushels.

The wheat estimate, is the largest on record, comparing with 1,155,715,000 harvested last year, which was the previous crop top, and with the ten-year average of 890,306,000. This year's crop was forecast at 1,409,893,000 a month ago.

MAN BELIEVED LOST IN CAVE IS FOUND, SAID ADMITTING ENTIRE REPORT OF BEING MISSING HOAX

UNASHVILLE, Tenn., July 10.—(AP)—State Safety Commissioner Lynn Bomar announced today John T. (Tuck) Hurn, for whom a week's search had been made in Nickajack cave at Shellmound, Tenn., had been located in New York City and that Hurn's reported disappearance in the cavern was "a hoak from beginning to end."

Bomar said John Hurn never had been lost in the gloomy, bat-infested commercial cave which had been searched by the state highway patrol, the Red Cross, National Guard, Boy Scouts and scores of private parties since Hurn's brother reported his disappearance .

Part Owner of Cave

Hollis Hurn, who with John is part owner of the cave, still insisted today; however, that he believed John was lost in the cave when he first reported his disappearance last Tuesday.

Bomar said that instead of getting lost in many-passaged, miles-deep Nickajack John Hurn was driven to Birmingham in an automobile July 1 and boarded a train there the next day for New York.

The commissioner said a telephone call was received early this morning from John Hurn in New York, an hour after a statement of the affair had been obtained from an individual Bomar did not identify. Bomar said he could not say immediately where in New York Hurn could be contacted.

"Sorry It All Happened"

The telephone call was made to Capt. J. Jackson, or Bomar's state highway patrol this morning, after Bomar and Jackson had been in

PRINCESS, FIANCE MEET FUTURE SUBJECTS

By ED CREACH

LONDON, July 10—(AP)—Princess Elizabeth proudly displayed her tall and handsome fiance, Lt. Philip Mountbatten, to 6,000 British society leaders in a damp garden party at Buckingham Palace today.

It was the first public appearance of the future queen and consort since the midnight announcement of their engagement.

King George VI, Queen Elizabeth and the younger sister, Princess Margaret Rose, beamed in the background in apparent delight while Elizabeth and Philip attracted practically the entire interest. Guests swished through wet grass to see the young couple.

Gloves Hide Ring

Bowing to garlen party etiquette, Elizabeth wore gloves which hid the engagement ring of three diamonds set in platinum which the former Greek prince placed on her third finger.

Earlier, crowds broke through police barriers at Westminster Abbey to cheer the 21-year-old Princess. Best wishes came from all over the world.

"We are very, very happy," she told a friend as she leafed through pile after pile of congratulatory messages in Buckingham Palace, where her handsome blond fiance also was in residence.

Crowd Outside Palace

Outside the vast gray, palace, whose gloomy exterior gave no evidence of the happiness within, a crowd that swelled to more than 2,000 stood in steady rain for a glimpse of "Princess Lilybet" when she left with her family for a Westminster Abbey ceremony.

Hurrahs and shouts of "good luck" rang out as the Royal family left in a limousine for the Abbey. The slender, blue-eyed Elizabeth, sitting beside demure Princess Margaret, smiled happily and waved acknowledgement. A faint blush tinged her cheeks.

Renewed cheers arose from another raincoated crowd in front of the 900-year-old Abbey, where King George unveiled a new memorial chapel to the flyers who saved the country from invasion in the Battle of Britain.

Mountbatten Stays Inside

Lt. Mountbatten, on 14-day leave from his naval establishment in Wiltshire, did not accompany the Royal family. A small crowd stayed in front of the place hoping to

ASSERTION 'SCANDAL THREATENS' IN WHITE HOUSE BY FORMER REP. SLAUGHTER DENIED BY TRUMAN

TULSA, Okla., July 10.—(AP)—An assertion by former Rep. Roger C. Slaughter (D-MO) that a "scandal threatens" the Truman administration brought a quick retort from the President today that he isn't worried.

Mr. Truman helped defeat Slaughter for re-election in Missouri's 1946 primary.

Slaughter, who said he was convinced "the President is personally an honest and honorable man," made the "scandal" assertion in a speech prepared for delivery at a chamber of commerce forum here and continued:

"Like Grant and Harding, he (Mr. Truman) has been misled by false friends, and has likewise been the victim of his own impetuosity."

The President, asked to comment at his press conference in Washington, replied, that, in view of the source, he was not worried.

Slaughter assailed the Prendergast political organization of Kansas City, asserting it "finally fell of its own weight" but "like the Phoenix, it managed to arise from the ashes—helped, in part, by a friendly national administration."

"Its present importance," he asserted, "lies not in its current strength, which is considerably diminished, but rather in the effrontery with which it seeks to trade upon the prestige of the presidency of the United States. It brags of the fact that the President of the United States is a dues-paying member, and proudly frames his checks from annual dues. It continues, on its letterhead, to list the President of the United States as

Jo Ann Robinson Complimented At Kitchen Shower

In compliment to Miss Jo Ann Robinson, whose marriage to William Dunn Turner will take place July 25, a kitchen shower was given Tuesday with Miss Billie Ann Cheney, Mrs. Hood Cheney, Miss Mary Lois Seale and Mrs. Finis Seale as hostesses. The Cheney home was the scene for the courtesy.

The hostesses set the mood for the party by greeting their guests in matching frocks and aprons, and the shower gifts were concealed in a miniature range and cabinet which dominated a kitchen ensemble arranged in a corner of the living room.

Kitchen prizes were selected from a grab bag by bingo winners. Members of the Entre Nous club and others composed the list of thirty-six guests for the occasion.

The polished surface of the dining room table was centered with an arrangement of yellow marigolds and white stock, accented with green satin streamers into which had been tied white gardenias. The crystal punch bowl was matched by candle holders bearing white tapers, and other appointments were in silver.

With frosted punch were served sandwiches, olives, shoestring potatoes and cake squares.

Combines Needed In 3 Wheat Harvest Areas

PLAINVIEW, July 8.—(AP)—Need for combines in the Texas wheat harvest areas was centered today in a three-county area.

J. B. Kidd, Texas Extension Service, wheat harvest and combine replacement office, said yesterday the demand for combines was now confined to Sherman, Dallam and Hartley counties.

But these counties, he said, may have sufficient number of combines by tonight to wind up their harvest.

That doesn't mean, he said, the harvest is complete in the Texas Panhandle, but there are enough combines currently in all counties to finish the job in "a very short time."

"Surplus combines are now being sent into the Oklahoma Panhandle, Kansas and Colorado to assist with the wheat harvest," Kidd said.

TWO-WAY TRACTOR PLOW

This field is being plowed on the contour, across the slope, with all furrows turned in the same direction—uphill. Rain water caught by the lapped furrows is held on the slope to benefit crops. Uncontrolled, that same water might easily form ruinous gullies or leach soil fertility by sheet erosion.

The Allis-Chalmers tractor-mounted two-way pick-up plow is hydraulically raised and lowered. At the end of the furrow pictured here, the righthand moldboard will be lowered for the return trip.

An Allis-Chalmers two-way plow can help greatly to conserve soil and moisture on sloping fields. We will be glad to give you full information.

Bones Of Cortez Re-buried In Old Church In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, July 10. (AP)—In a crumbling old church adjoining the centuries-old hospital De Jesus, situated in the heart of the city, lie the bones of Hernan Cortes, Spanish conqueror of the ancient Aztecs.

They were reburied yesterday in a nich in the wall of the unused church, where they were discovered last year after a carefully guarded search.

The burial marked the seventh for Cortes' remains.

VCortes died near Seville, Spain, Dec. 2, 1547.

A simple bronze plaque now marks the place where the bones were secreted in 1836 to escape possible mob violence.

Rabid Dog Killed After Child Bitten

McALLEN, July 10. (AP)—A seven-year-old gir , bitten by a rabid dog, today had a neighbor to thank for her thoughtfulness.

When Maria Fonseca was bitten July 3 by a four-months-old pup, the dog's owner killed it and placed it in some brush at a distance from the house.

But Mrs. Juan Martinez, the neighbor, wanted to take no chances. She notified police, who sent the dog's head to Austin.

The test showed the dog was infected with rabies.

The child's parents were advised and preventive treatment was started immediteley.

Meat Packing Plants Planned For Mexico

MEXICO CITY, July 10.—(AP)—Mexico with the aid of American capital may fight the nation's economic crisis caused by the foot and mouth disease by building large meat packing plants.

Officials of the Bank of Mexico met in closed session last night with cattlemen and U. S. and Mexico investors to discuss the construction of the plants.

One source said U. S. investors were ready to put up $10,000,000 in cash and credits for construction of plants in the northern border states of Sonora, Chihuahua and Coahuila, the central states of Michoacan and Jalisco and the Gulf port cities of Tampico and Vercruz.

REV. MONTE RICHARDS TO BE SPEAKER FOR MEETING OF BAPTISTS

Rev. Monte Richards of Mertens will be the principal speaker Monday night at the all-Corsicana Baptist Association-wide barbecue for men at the Northside Baptist church, Rev. Derward Geddie, association missionary, announced Thursday morning.

Plans for the evangelist rallies for the simultaneous Revival Campaign, Juyl 20-August 3, will be made. Fifteen churches plan revivals during that period while others are holding summer revivals at more convenient dates. The Northside congregation is the only Corsicana church to hold the revival at the suggested dates.

The barbecue supper will begin at 8 p. m. and the plates are 50 cents each.

An associational-wide women's rally is slated at the same hour Monday night at the First Baptist church here. A covered dish supper is planned. The speaker for the woman's meeting will be Mrs. Richards, wife of the Mertens pastor who will address the men's meeting.

Steel From Grand Camp Presented To Daily Sun

A twisted mass of steel plate from the French freighter Grand Camp that precipitated the terrible Texas City disaster found its way to Corsicana Thursday.

George E. Meredith, Rice, route 1, who has been working for the Texas City Terminal railroad in repair work, presented the Daily Sun with a remnant of the nitrate loaded vessel that sunk at its moorings in that port.

Current cleanup operations in that Gulf coast city are going steadily ahead, Meredith reported, but predicted from three to five years before the stricken city would be entirely rebuilt.

The twisted metal, resembling a piece of metor from the terrific heat and force, was brought up from the channel. It will be used in the newspaper office as a paperweight and reminder of the biggest news story thus far in 1947.

Farm Safety Week

S. P. Walton, Negro county agricultural agent, called attention Thursday to National Farm Safety Week and urged farmers to be safety minded in their labors.

According to statistics, four farm buildings per hour are destroyed in the nation by fire; 4,500 farm workers were killed and 300,000 were injured in 1946.

The agent said that statistics show that 52 farm people will be killed each day, two of which will be killed daily at the noon hour and 205 injured. Urging caution, the agent advised taking stock of hazards on the farm and using prevention.

as Miss Lula Johnson played the reed organ.

There was, it seems, a lack of harmony despite the heavy playing of Miss Lula Johnson.

Third Church Erected.

Sanctification had caused disruption among the staunch congregation. They sent for the Rev. Allison Templeton, way back in Tennessee, to come and clear the muddied waters.

He did.

In 1891 the congregation built again, always on a stronger rock. The building today is occupied by the Third Avenue Presbyterian church.

In those days it wasn't constant tooting of automobile horns, nor parking meters, nor an ever extending business district that was menacing the church.

Split In Church.

There was a split. There it was.

After the union with the Northern Presbyterians the word "Cumberland" was dropped from the name.

Dropped by some—but not by all.

The minority preferred to retain the name.

Mrs. Boltz said that the present structure—the one that is now for sale—was bought from the Baptists 37 years ago, and remodeled.

Pulpit Now Vacant.

Mrs. Annie Carpenter Love, in her History of Navarro County, says the Cumberland Presbyterians built the Twelfth St., structure.

Regardless, the pastorless church (the pulpit has been vacant for about two months) decided to sell and build again.

Its membership—totaling about 100—and the board of elders will keep kindling the flames, even as the Rev. Patton did ninety-four years ago.

The new principal is the son of Grover Meadows of Chatfield.

er and a spokesman for the Southern Association, summed up the employers' reaction to Hartley's charge:

If we're wrong, we're perfectly willing to be wrong. And we hope Fred Hartley is right. I hope we'll be able to pick comfortable cells. We'll probably have good companionship."

Virtually normal production in the northern, western and midwestern coal fields was expected today. Nearly 135,000 of the 300,000 miners covered by the northern signing reported yesterday.

Southerners at Work

Many of the South's 100,000 coal diggers also prepared to work today although industry sources did not expect normal operations there until the end of the week.

The miners went back with a 44 1-2 cent hourly increase in pay, hiking the daily rate from $11.85 for a nine-hour day to $13.05 for eight-hours. The contract covers the employment of miners only during the time as "such persons are able and willing to work."

The new contract promises at least a year of peace in the usually turbulent coal fields, scene of four walkouts in the past eight months. Two of the stoppages were on a national level.

that better than he and it is none of his business. He smiled as he added he does not intend to adjourn it himself.

Atomic Theft Discussed

Asked about the disappearance of some papers from the Los Alamos atomic bomb testing grounds in New Mexico, the president said he believed Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) had clearly explained the incident to the senate yesterday and he is willing to accept that explanation.

Asked about flying saucers, he said the only ones he had seen were in the newspapers.

He had not comment on the new wage-boosting contract between the United Mine Workers and the soft coal mine owners, saying that it was strictly a matter between the negotiators. He also told a questioner he did not know of a government study of the contract's possible effect on prices. (Later, however, he received a report on such a study from his economic advisory council.)

In the foreign field, Mr. Truman dismissed with no comment question about the arrests of communists in Greece and abolut the refusal of some eastern European nations to attend the Paris economic conference.

Seeks Information Of Former Resident

A card from John B. Judah, Columbus, Ga., was received Thursday by H. E. Metcalf, 1414 West Second avenue, and the Daily Sun, seeking information of a Henry Metcalf who left Dale county, Ga. "something like a century ago" and settled near Corsicana.

Metcalf is confident that the Henry Metcalf mentioned is his late grandfather who died in the 1880s and was buried at Grape Creek but he did not come from Dale county Georgia until early in the 1880s after Metcalf's father had settled here.

see him and the Princess appear later in the balcony.

The announcement of the Royal engagement and speculation over plans for the wedding—the date for which is to be set within a few days—temporarily stole the spotlight from international politics and domestic economic problems.

An official announcement today said that Lt. Mountbatten would accompany the Royal family to Scotland.

Official Photos Taken

Before departing for Westminster Abbey today the Princess and her husband-to-be had their official engagement photographs taken in the Bow room of the palace.

The general belief was that the 21-year-old heiress paparent to the throne would wed her childhood sweetheart this autumn—probably in October—at Westminster Abbey.

The impression appeared to be growing that the ceremony—in deference to the grave economic ills confronting the nation—would be a comparatively austere affair.

"In my opinion," the lawmaker declared, "this agreement clearly reflects collusion between the mine operators and the UMW with the intention of violating the law."

Stiff Penalties Seen.

Hartley said the operators who signed could be charged under the act and, if convicted, would face a $10,000 fine and one year in prison.

He added that no action could be taken against Lewis, because the law forbids payment of money, except for withheld dues, to "representative of employes" but says nothing about the employes' representatives' accepting it.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) had no comment on Hartley's contention.

Strike Risk Factor.

And while there was no official administration reaction to Hartley's speech, it appeared highly unlikely that the government would risk a fresh coal strike by trying to break the contract through legal action.

However, concern over the possible economic impact of the 44 1-2 cent basic hourly wage hike won by Lewis was evident both within the administration and congress.

Senator Flanders (R-Vt.) a member of the senate-house committee on the economic report, told a reporter the new contract terms "will most certainly touch off a new wage-price spiral unless other labor leaders refuse to follow suit."

More Demands Seen.

And Flanders was skeptical about other unions holding back.

"We are dealing with human nature," the senator continued. "They (union leaders) will have to uphold their reputations by getting more money for their workers."

Senator Myers (D-Pa) disagreed on this point.

"I am very hopeful," Myers said, "that workers generally will be satisfied with the wage increases they already have obtained."

Nourse also cautioned against jumping to conclusions.

Nourse added, however, that any big steel price boost such as the $5 a ton average hike predicted by the metal working paper, Iron Age, would tend at least to discourage the price reductions Mr. Truman has asked of business generally.

Flanders said he sees a still greater danger than inflation in wage increases like the one Lewis won.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Fish Bites Woman!

Willie Wells was coming home from Seward's Creek the other evening with a string of trout, when a stern looking lady (visitor at the Boxwood Inn) stops him, and tells him a man his size could be better occupied than catching fish.

Willie tells her off real good-naturedly by saying: "Perhaps you're right, but if these fish had kept their mouths shut, they wouldn't be here." (At that, says Willie, laughing out loud, she looked just as if a fish had bit her!)

Blabbing mouths never cause anything but trouble. Nobody who knew the facts would ever criticize Willie's right to go fishing on his one day off—any more than they'd deny his right to come home to a mellow glass of beer.

From where I sit, the slower we are to criticize—and the quicker we are to recognize another's tastes, the better we'll get along together—whether those tastes apply to beer or fishing.

RAT CONTROL URGED AS HEALTH MEASURE BY STATE OFFICER

AUSTIN, July 10—(Spl)—Because of the economic losses they cause to industry and commerce and the annoyance they create, rats have been considered a serious menace to mankind since long before their role as vectors of disease was understood. Today at least six diseases which are transmitted to man from the rat are known to medical science, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. These diseases include the dread plague, typhus, trichinosis, a form of jaundice, tapeworm, and food poisoning. The whole history of the role rats play in the transmission of disease remains as yet unknown.

"It is necessary to public health", Dr. Cox said, "that a continuous rat control program be maintained in every urban and rural area throughout Texas. This is of especial importance on farms where rats may flourish by feeding on grain and other farm products."

The doctor pointed out that rats, like other living things, require food and shelter if they are to propagate and increase in number. Destroying their shelter and breeding places requires the rat-proofing of buildings and providing for periodic inspection of buildings to insure permanent safety. This program will force the rat out into the open where its destruction may be accomplished.

Of equal importance as a control measure is the elimination of all food supplies. This consists of storing all foods in ratproof buildings or in rat-proof containers, the proper storage and disposal of garbage, and careful feeding of stock to prevent waste feed from beink picked up by the rats.

By observing these control measures, the community will benefit not only in the eradication of a nuisance and economic menace, but in improved health conditions and the prevention of rat-borne diseases.

ARIZONA OKAYS ANCIENT INDIAN MARRIAGE RITES

By MURRAY SINCLAIR
AP Newsfeatures.

TUCSON, Ariz.—When Arizona's attorney general recently reaffirmed that reservation marriages carried out according to Indian tribal custom are legal, he spotlighted some of the continent's most colorful wedding ceremonies.

As the annual spring rush to marriage license bureaus reaches its peak, many redskin youth will continue to follow the rites practiced before the white man reached the Southwest.

In the land of the Hopis some wedding ceremonies still last for weeks, and it is the man who makes his bride's finery.

With the match agreed upon, the mother of the bride-to-be takes her daughter, carrying a tray of meal, to the house of the bridegroom. She is received with thanks.

For three days, quiet and unnoticed, the girl grinds corn. Then comes the wedding. On that day the mother cuts the bride's front hair at the level of her chin and dresses the longer locks in two coils which she will wear forever to show that she is no longer a maiden.

At dawn on the fourth day the two families gather together. The mothers pound Yucca roots and use them as soap. The bride's mother washes the hair of her son-in-law and his mother does the same for his wife. Then they go to the side of their hill-top village, hold meal to their lips, and cast it towards the dawn as they pray for a long and prosperous life.

Immediately after the wedding breakfast, the groom's father runs through the village carrying a bag of cotton and distributing it to male relatives who remove the seeds and return it to the young husband. The men get together and spin the cotton.

Then the bridegroom and the men of his family spend weeks weaving the precious white wedding blanket which the bride will wear only twice during her lifetime. The first time is when she puts it over her head, leaves the home of her husband's people, and goes with her husband to her people, for in this land of women's rights the husband must live with his wife's relatives. The second time will be at the ceremony of naming their first child.

A native Apache wedding is far more simple.

The young man or his representative formally presents his marriage request to the girl's parents. If accepted, he demonstrates he has the ability to support a wife by sending her family presents.

The girl and her female relatives proceed to build the couple's future home close to her parents. It is customary for the bride's family to equip the new house. When all is completed the couple move in, and are man and wife in the eyes of the tribe and the State of Arizona.

From then on, the groom is a member of his wife's family group, although there are certain members he must forever avoid.

Many of the Navajo young people, like members of all other tribes, take out the white man's marriage licenses to protect themselves against tribal divorces, but age-old ceremonies are still being performed.

Matches are frequently made at a Squaw dance. There a boy shows he likes a girl by dancing with her frequently. If a girl scampers after a boy who doesn't like her, he trys to escape or buys her off if caught.

The boy's father carries the proposal of marriage and gifts to the mother of the prospective bride. The mother refers the request to her oldest son, and the matter is thoroughly discussed. The bride's mother lets it be known what gifts she would like to receive from her future son-in-law, and after they have been delivered sets the date of the wedding.

A home is built by the girl's family. When it is finished a wedding feast is prepared. Late in the day the boy's family arrives and sits on the north side of the hogan, the girl's family on the south. The boy enters and sits in the place of honor. The girl's father brings in the bride and seats her to the right and slightly behind the groom. The couple pour water over each other's hands.

A new ceremonial basket filled with a cooked corn meal is placed on a white line pointing to the east.

The boy dips meal from the basket and eats it. The girl does the same. When they are finished the rest of the meal is given to the guests, and then the feast is served. The respective fathers give words of advice, the wedding basket is given to the boy's mother, and the guests depart leaving the newly-married couple in their own home.

The bride's mother cannot attend the wedding, as she should never be seen by her son-in-law.

Arizona's Attorney General also has ruled that divorces performed according to tribal custom are equally legal. If a Navajo woman wants to divorce her husband she places his saddle outside the hogan. If a man wants a divorce, he picks up his saddle and belongings, steps over the fire in the center of the hogan and proceeds out the door, never to return.

Author of the Week

Adrian Seligman, now 37 years old, a product of Harrow and Cambridge, sailed around the world ten years ago with his bride and a crew of young Englishmen having their last fling at freedom before the storm of war closed down. Seligman lived through the trip to write "The Voyage of the Cap Pilar," a rattling good adventure and travel story. He lived through the war too as a naval officer, is applying now for a master's license in steam and sail, but regards himself as a professional writer.

statement on the Czechoslovak-Soviet discussions possibly might be made tonight.)

Czechoslovakia, the only Slav nation to announce acceptance of the Paris invitation, continued meanwhile, to tighten her trade links with nations in the Soviet orbit.

Trade Pact Told.

The government announced a provisional trade exchange pact with Hungary and waited for results from another mission in Moscow pressing trade pacts with the east, probably continuing the "favored nation" factors, might not in effect make her ineligible for actual participation in a program of unified economy for Europe which excluded the Russians.

Already 13 per cent of Czechoslovakia5s foreign trade is with Russia.

Albania was expected to follow the lead of Russia, whose foreign minister, V. M. Molotov, opposed the plan for economic cooperation in three-power talks last week. Observers last night said there was only a 50-50 chance that Finland would accept.

Hungary's council of ministers announced after a long session this morning that "Hungary regrets it cannot participate in a conference in which all the big powers do not take part together." To some observers, the decision was a surprise, because of Hungary's grave economic condition.

A Polish government spokesman in Warsaw, commenting on Poland's rejection of the bid, told a news conference the Poles still looked to the United States, principally, to supply what would be necessary to rebuild the ravaged nation. Poland recently sent notes to envoys of the four big powers expressing Poland's willingness to participate in European reconstruction through coal deliveries, but regretting that the nations invited to the Paris conference would be excluded from making amendments and changes in the Marshall proposal.

Switzerland, meanwhile, announced three conditions for her participation. The government announced that the Swiss would assume no obligations contrary to Switzerland's traditional status as a neutral; that the conclusions reached at Paris concerning Swiss economy would be subject to Swiss government approval, and that the Swiss reserved the right to maintain trade agreements with nations not represented at the conference.

Czechoslovakia, which has close political and economic ties with the Soviet Union, and Austria, where some Russian troops still are stationed, have decided to take part in the conference.

In the invitations, distributed last Thursday, Britain and France proposed that participants in the conference set up committees to survey Europe's resources and needs in a move to get United States aid in continental reconstruction.

Marshall Plan Issue.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall offered such aid, provided Europe took the initiative in recovery planning, in a Harvard University speech June 5.

Countries which have signified their intention of taking part, in addition to Czechoslovakia and Austria, are Britain, France, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Iceland, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Switverland, Eire, Portugal, Italy, Greece and Turkey. Franco Spain was not invited.

Poland and Yugoslavia rejected conference bids last night. The Polish action was announced after a four-hour cabinet meeting in Warsaw. Yugoslavia's negative reply followed several days of government discussions.

Several Plans Due.

Invitations were that some blocs of countries would come to the conference with their own plans to supplement the tentative agenda proposed by Britain and France.

Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg representatives at the Hague yesterday agreed upon a joint plan.

A well informed Belgian source said the low countries would call for abolition of bilateral trade treaties and payments between European nations.

The Norwegian, Swedish and Danish foreign ministers, after meeting in Copenhagen yesterday, announced formulation of a common attitude to be maintained at the conference.

THE PILOTS SPEAK

Pilots, the men ultimately responsible for aviation achievement and failure, have spoken publicly about the recent fatal crashes of commercial planes. Through President David L. Behncke of the Air Line Pilots Association, they have challenged the Civil Aeronautics Board's finding of pilot error in two of three recent major disasters. They state that:

"The pilot is holding the bag at all times for mistakes made by everyone in connection with a flight, such as careless loading, mechanical and instrument unreliability, inacccurate weather forecasts and ground navigational failures."

Certain technical improvements in plane construction and landing field facilities as well as in flight instruments are included in the association's official recommendations. The president added that the pilots already had submitted all such suggestions to Congress, many of them to the C. A. B., and to manufacturers.

The pilots are well within their rights in pointing out to the traveling public that progress cannot be made by "inscribing pilot error on tombstones." The tragic accidents of the last few weeks show a need for intensive study by government and private agencies entrusted with all phases of commercial air travel. Safety in the air must be the goal of all such efforts. And the pilots who fly the planes should be listened to.

GREEN VERSUS RED

There are persistent and increasing reports of the formation of a Green International in Europe. Begun for the purpose of combatting Red influence, it seems to be gathering strength in Poland, Bulgaria, Rumania and Yugoslavia, the countries most under Red domination. Its leaders hope to create some sort of federation of peasant states, in opposition to Soviet Communism.

It is natural that rumors of any organization like this Green movement be suspected of being wishful thinking on the part of the democracies. Nevertheless, the fact that reference to it persists and increases in volume would indicate that there is a good basis of fact. Once-free peoples apparently are not swallowing voluntarily all the ideological material advanced by Communists of the USSR.

It's a hopeful sign. For, after all, it is on the assumption of strong anti-Communist elements in Europe that the United States is pinning he hope for a truly free world. And it is on that assumption that the Truman plan has been inaugurated, the Marshall plan suggested.

THE PARKING PROBLEM

Parking troubles might soon be ended if it were not for the neighborhood business man. This was the conclusion of Robert Moses, New York City park commissioner, after investigation of the New Orleans traffic situation. He remarked:

"Hotel men, merchants, real estate and theater interests in the congested district want all the profits and none of the penalties of congrestion. They want more people and less crowds, more cars and less traffic, more control and less regulation, firm administration, but nothing irksome that will drive business out of town. It's a swell stunt if you can do it."

Local officials, of course, hear the clamor of business men who cry that street parking bans would ruin them. But the zoning committee of one city suburb believes that it has found an answer.

Its proposed new zoning code prohibits all street parking in business sections. Instead, merchants are to provide off-the-street parking facilities in specified amounts. A store, for instance, must maintain one car space for each 250 feet of floor area in the store itself; theaters, churches, and other assembly centers must maintain one parking space for every six seats within the building. Furthermore, all loading and unloading will have to be carried on away from the street.

That's one possible solution. But many built-up cities will find it hard to provide the vacant space for parking. Perhaps the only real solution would be a parking-dictator—and then nobody would like the results.

After all, the custody of the world's coal doesn't rest in the hands of one man.

NATURE'S GOD IS ALSO FATHER AND MINDFUL OF HUMAN NEED*

Lofty Conceptions of Nature and God in the Book of Job - - Seeing Divine Greatness Through Personal Suffering - - Man a Mystery, Surrounded by Mysteries

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

"This is my Father's world, And to my listening ears,
All nature sings, and round me rings the music of the spheres,
This is my Father's world; I rest me in the thought
Of rocks and trees, of skies and seas; His hand the wonders wrought.

"This is my Father's world, Oh! let me ne'er forget
That though the wrong seems oft so strong, God is the Ruler yet.
This is my Father's world: The battle is not done;
Jesus who died shall be satisfied, And Earth and heaven be one."

—Maltbie D. Babcock.

Longest and loftiest of all the poems describing God in Nature is the Book of Job. It does something to our complacency to realize that this ancient poem, penned thousands of years ago by an unknown writer, far surpasses, in every quality that makes poetry great, the best writings of modern centuries. The mind and spirit and capacity of man have not perceptibly "evolved" throughout the ages. We possess more tools and material things, and know more facts than the ancients, but our spiritual perceptions are no keener. We exalt man more highly, but they, with truer insight, exalted God.

Our Lesson is God's answer and challenge to the wordy unwisdom of Job and his counsellors. In a three-fold round of arguments the friends of Job had tried to convince him that his own sin was responsible for his misfortunes.

Nothing is more barren or disheartening than conventional advice in a time of unique crisis. Job's friends had all the answers that were common to the occasion; but they failed to understand Job or to understand God. Their high-flown insistance that his misfortunes were a consequence of his own sinning, found no echo in the heart of the upright sufferer.

There is much pious patter heard today which strangely echoes the conventionalism of the three friends of Job. We seek obvious answers to profound problems. There are religious teachers who fairly float over the present plight of the world, calling it a consequence of man's sinning. They have all the complacency and lack of discernment of Job's friends.

Truth Beyond Telling

They miss the central truth that some things happen beyond man's understanding, which are the working out of the inscrutable will of God. Jesus met this situation in the case of the blind man whom He healed, when the curious Apostles sought to learn whether the man had sinned or his parents. Jesus gave them a glimpse of the greater purposes of God. Of the millions who have died in the recent war, shall we say that they were thereby punishel for their personal sins and shortcomings? There are larger truths to be uncovered here than our poor brains have yet found out. God is still in His heaven, though all is not right with the world.

Our present need is to get a consciousness of the living Father purposes of God in the universe over which He is regnant. The greatness of God is the central truth underlying all other thuths. He who created and governs the universe has plans for human lives beyond our comprehension. The central truth of His Deity, expressed in his Fatherhood, is the core of all religious thinking and living.

God Not an Errand Boy

Some folk talk and act as though God were a mere errand boy, to be directed by their personal and short-sighted whims. They call upon Him for all kinds of trivial chores which they should be doing themselves. Usually God's intervention comes into play when man's powers fail. And He always weaves a larger pattern than the eye of man can trace.

Job's friends were conventionalists. They were not wise enough to perceive the significance of the situation.

Purified by Pain

This great and lofty book of Job deals with the problem of human suffering, and it portrays the vastness of the purposes of God behind the experiences of man. Somehow or other, we all must learn the greatness as well as the goodness of God. He will not accept a little place in life. The Power that established the universe will not yield to dethronement at the hands of human conceit and ignorance.

By a perverse quirk of human mentality we often treat big things as little and little things as big. Many heroes of suffering have discovered and demonstrated that life's reality is not dependent upon outward circumstances. On beds of pain they have learned the deep things of life and of God. A hypochrondriac—of whom we have too many nowadays—is a pitiable spectacle; but a docile pupil in the schools of suffering is a minister of God to man. He sees things in the large and in their relationship. He has learned that first and last, and all the way in between, is the providence of God who is a Father. "They reckon ill who leave God out."

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS

It is said that we possess the ideas but no longer retain the valor of our ancestors.

There never was found in any age of the world either religion or law that did so highly exalt the public good as the Bible.

—Proverb 20:12.

It is good to have something great to achieve, some high hope ahead, but we all come to realize in time, that it is not the attainment, nor the failure that counts, but the earnest striving.

INSECT DAMAGE TO COTTON IS REPORTED SLIGHT IN COUNTY

Cotton insect infestation is spotted over the county with most fields comparatively free of boll weevil, H. C. Robinson, county agent, stated Thursday.

However, he said that fleahopper is present in sufficient numbers in many fields to cause extensive damage by killing the young squares and recommends the immediate application of dusting sulphur to check this insect.

"This is very important in young cotton to enable the plants to set a crop of fruit as early as possible. No leafworm or boll worm have yet been reported," the agent said.

Robinson said that weekly insect surveys are being made in many cotton fields in order to keep in close touch with this situation. Ralph Evans, coordinator of the county vocational training school, and instructors in the various classes are cooperating as are the students in this work.

Students are making weekly reports on insect counts in fields over the county and in addition entomologists from the Federal Cotton Station near Waco are checking several fields in the county each week.

"With the prevailing high price for cotton, many farmers are planning to apply poisons if insect infestation develops," Robinson stated.

NEW DEEP OIL TEST WILL BE DRILLED IN ROBERTSON COUNTY

Announcement was made Tuesday that J. E. Davant, local oil operator, would join with Maner Graham, Tyler operator, in the drilling of an Edwards lime test in Robertson county three miles northeast of Calvert.

To be known as the J. E. Davant-Maner Graham No. 1 Fagan, the site is 660 feet out of the northeast corner of 45 acres of the 369-acre Johnny Fagan tract in the Charles Hensley (south) survey.

Billy Byers Drilling company of Tyler has the drilling contract, which carries down to 5,200 feet or the Edwards lime and it is highly probable that if the Edwards lime is dry the well will be carried down to 10,000 feet.

Equipment is being moved to the site now and spudding in will probably take place later in the week. A test near the well site gave good indications of paying production in the Edwards strata.

LOST PURSE HOLDING DIAMONDS IS FOUND, BUT MONEY MISSING

Somewhere in Corsicana Wednesday there was a person who believed implicitly that half-honesty is the best policy.

Resting snugly against the Daily Sun office door Wednesday morning was a black zipper purse containing diamonds and other jewelry, but $200 in currency that was in it when it was lost was missing.

The purse, money and jewelry belonged to Mrs. Edwina Teal Wilson of Austin.

According to Mrs. Billye Teal, Mrs. Wilson's mother, she had the purse Monday when the family stopped in the 1500 block of West Fourth Ave., where Wilson went to look for work. In getting his work clothes, and removing other packages from the car, the purse evidently was dropped.

Several diamond rings, a watch, a baby's locket, all of the papers were intact when the purse was found at the Sun's office door by Lem Person, janitor.

The family, which came here from Florida, was desperate after loss of the money.

That's the Farmall Cub, the first tractor in history that's built right and priced right for a great new group of tractor owners.

The Cub is the newest member of the famous FARMALL FAMILY. It brings the advantages of the FARMALL* SYSTEM OF FARMING to the small, family farm.

It's a Cub in size, but "a BEAR for work." You get big-Farmall quality and design, plus scaled-down, small-tractor economy. And there is a full line of matched, quick-change, easy-to-control implements.

The smooth-running 4-cylinder engine develops approximately 9¼ h.p. on the belt. It uses considerably less than a gallon of gasoline an hour. There's a comfortable, roomy seat... ample crop clearance under the chassis... and "Culti-Vision" to give a clear, unobstructed view of your work.

Fit the Cub into your farming operations. We'll have one on hand soon, so you can climb in the seat and drive it. You'll find it handles as easily as your car.

A Texas Institution Of Friendly Service

A local business, guided and directed by virtue and truthfulness, may well become a proud institution of the proud State of Texas. Established over a quarter century ago upon these very cardinal principals, the Central Monument Works of Corsicana feels justified - - not in any degree of self-esteem - - but, rather, in the opinion of the people who know us best - - our customers - - to the right and great privilege of being an institution of service to the people. And it goes without saying that a true institution serves each creed, people, and race - - Gentile, Hebrew and Colored - - All Americans - - with equal fairness.

All through the years, the Central Monument Works has endeavored to place human considerations FIRST. We will not say our prices have been the same to every customer in every case - - even though we do maintain a definite price policy - - for we are often in a like situation to the professional man, the doctor or the attorney, E. G. can we justifiably deny a marker to a widow without the current price of work, when her husband's grave needs remembering just as much, in the sight of God, as the husband of the wealthy woman? We will not deny being human for business or any other reason upon the face of the earth.

This institution of service refuses to enter upon any statements of the high quality of the marble and granite used in the local manufacture of our beautiful memorials. But we will say that the materials used will remain PERMANENTLY BEAUTIFUL and not just for a few years. May we point, for a moment, to our large number of customers who come back when further need arises. And may we say that we exercise the same degree of pride in the STUDIED WORKMANSHIP of a small marker as we do on a $1000.00 order. The resulting volume of sales offers you the greatest monumental value in the State. WE INVITE YOUR INVESTIGATION AND HUMBLY OFFER OUR COUNSEL AND SERVICES TO YOU.

Mormons Impress Corsicanan On Trip To Utah, Arizona

Mormon missionaries working in Corsicana and meeting with small groups in the interest of public education concerning their church, should receive happily the impressions of Miss Martha Sullenberger, now on a tour of National Parks of Utah and North Arizona. An evaluation of the church and the people who compose it was included in a recent communication from Miss Sullenberger to local friends.

During a houseparty at Ogden, Utah, Miss Sullenberger was a member of several excursion parties over the northern stakes and wards, terms which in the Mormon church approximate in meaning "dioceses" and "parishes."

"I leave Uath," Miss Sullenberger said, "with the memory of the most hospitable, tolerant, agreeable, oblinging and honest people." About ninety per cent of those she met, reported the vacationist, were members of the Latter Day Saints or Mormon church.

"Latter Day Saints"

"And I for one don't think Latter Day Saint a misnomer," Miss Sullenberger said, "for on inquiry into missionary efforts and interest, I learned that they keep every member of the fold active in the cause, either as a Sunday school teacher or participant in the youth movement. They appear, even when judged by members of other denominations, to be of outstanding merit for abstinence from vices or debilitating causes and to really have achieved a solution to many a current problem."

"For instance," her letter continues, "there seems to be no juvenile delinquency, for there were plenty of athletic contests, picnics, parties, hikes among Utah's young people so as to leave no time or inclination for mischief." The writer noticed, too, that in close and convenient proximity to the University grounds and other gathering spots for the young people, the State church always had a building for services and, apparently, recreational activities. Here, reported Miss Sullenberger, it seemed to be considered a privilege for the older women to serve as hostesses.

Motoring over the mountainous and scenic district of Northern Utah Miss Sullenberger was introduced to "the grandeur of snowy peaks; the cool, exhilarating air of Logan, where the Utah State Agricultural college is located; and the cherry orchards with their wealth of ripe, red fruit." The year-round turkey market there, said Miss Sullenberger, "has furnished me with a series of Thanksgiving dinners in June."

Parks' Beauty Impressive

Describing the parks visited, Miss Sullenberger states that it is of them that Uncle Sam says, "Come, nieces and nephews, admire my etchings!"

Miss Sullenberger was impressed greatly by the beauties of the western parks.

"These masterpices of God and nature," continues her letter, "stimulate imagination and inspire reverence. To commune with Nature and God, alone on the rim of the Grand Canyon, is to glimpse eternity.

Miss Sullenberger's excursion has included the north rim of the Grand Canyon in Arizona and Bryce Canyon National park with others. The park system, Miss Sullenber stated, is staffed by young college students selected from a long waiting list of applicants. Some of these give programs and ranger talks every evening at national camp lodges, and the number includes organists, violinists, singers and dramatic readers.

Eureka Bible School Class Ends Session

The Eureka Methodist Bible School Class closed its first week recently with thirty-three children enrolled and almost perfect attendance during the week of activity.

The school was composed of the beginners, primary and junior classes.

The beginners studied "Happy Times in Our Church," and made miniature churches from paper and clay, in addition to other activities.

The primary class studied "Our Daily Bread" and made a project of a farming community showing wheat from the time of planting to the time of selling it in the grocery stores.

The juniors studied "People Who Lived in Jesus' Day". For their project they made a scroll.

Ten Teachers and helpers conducted the school.

Magnolia Service Station Burglarized

County, precinct and city officers Tuesday were investigating the burglarizing of the Magnolia service station at the intersection of Highways 75 and 31 early Tuesday morning.

The station was entered sometime after midnight, the closing hour.

Peach Canning Time

Peach canning time has come and they are easy to can in the water bath canner, Berthenia E. Wallace, Negro county home demonstration agent advised Monday.

The agent said to choose peaches that are sound, firm, and table ripe. To determine if ripe, she suggests looking beyond the pink blush, if the peach has one, to see that the ground color is yellow or white and not the unripe greenish tint.

To prevent darkening during preparation, the peaches should be skinned, pitted, then dropped in a solution of water and two tablespoons each of salt and vinegar per gallon.

NEW TEXAS ALMANAC OFF PRESS; SHOWS GROWTH OF STATE

A record of wartime and post-war economic, political and social development in Texas is portrayed in the half million or more facts presented in the 1947-48 edition of the Texas Almanac which has just been published by the Dallas Morning News.

Industrial development in the period, 1940-46, inclusive, was greater than in all previous Texas history. As measured by number of employees there was a net gain of more than 100 per cent even after the closing of some of the large war plants. As measured by value of products the gain was more than 200 per cent. State and national bank assets were up 200 per cent and other data indicate a general advance of 100-200 per cent in the state's industry, commerce and finance.

Momentous in this development has been a net increase in the state's population. There has been a large shifting from rural to urban residence and vocation with an accompanying rapid decline in farm tenancy. Big increases in average farm acreage and high degree of farm mechanization are recorded. The large industrial expansion, data presented by the Texas Almanac show, solved an accumulated problem of fifteen years of declining cotton acreage by giving employment to displaced tenants and greatly increasing the average individual income of both rural and urban population

Features of the new Texas Almanac include complete text of the State Constitution with historical notations on all present and past amendments. The book presents an interesting account of Texas' activities in World War II, revised population estimates for late 1946 for all counties, cities, towns and villages. There is a complete summary of the new agricultural census and extensive information on the cattle industry, which now brings greater cash income than Texas crops, including a history on the development of ranching.

There are extensive reviews of postwar oil, gas and other mineral production, manufacturing, communication and transportation, including rail, highway, aviation and shipping. An extensive chapter on State Government gives a catalogue of all officials, detail of state finances, including statistics of educational support, eleemosynary institutions and public welfare, including old-age and other pensions.

The 608-page book, containing approximately 750,000 words and statistical word-equivalent, covers several thousand separate subjects, including such diversity as rainfall data, a forestry survey of East Texas, flora and fauna, religious bodies, recreational resources and state national parks and forests, libraries, penitentiary system and complete political calendar for 1948. There are also the usual revised lists including all county officials, officials of the various civic and commercial organizations, superintendents of the independent school districts, detailed election returns and revised, up-to-date articles on the 254 counties, accompanied by revised individual county maps. The volume also has the usual large folded highway and railroad maps revised to March 1, 1947.

TAXES

surprised at Mr. Truman's "prejudgment" of the issue.

Senator Wherry (Neb), the Republican whip, when told of the veto announcement, said: "Well, he's going to get a chance to veto it."

Democrat Favors Bill

Senator Stewart (D-Tenn), leaving a conference of Democratic senators on the tax question, said he has not changed his position.

"I am going to vote for the bill and to override the veto," Stewart declared.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass) commented: "I still hope there is no veto, but if there is one I'm quite sure the house will override it. I hope after looking carefully into the situation, the president will find it possible to give adequate tax relief in January."

Aiken Not Enthusiastic

Senator Aiken (R-V)t said: "I was not enthusiastic about bringing it up again now, but I couldn't say that I wouldn't vote to override a veto."

In his rejection of the previous tax bill, Mr. Truman said the Republican-controlled congress had approved "the wrong kind of tax reduction at the wrong time." That legislation made the effective date last July 1. The new bill makes the effective date six months later.

Mr. Truman first disclosed his decision on the tax bill which would become effective Jan. 1, to Senator Barkley, the senate Democratic leader.

Barkley Also Opposed.

Barkley, telling reporters then of the decision, was asked what his attitude will be when the bill comes up on the senate floor.

"I'm opposed to it," he said, adding he would fight it on the floor.

Then he said Mr. Truman is opposed to it and will "veto it."

Asked if a second veto could be sustained in the senate, Barkley said "I hope so."

The measure was approved, 10-3 by the senate finance committee yesterday with Barkley, and Senators Lucas (D-Ill) and Connally (D-Tex) opposing it.

No Addresses With List Of Jurors

They can't look and are afraid to anyway.

They being J. C. "Rusty" Gaston, district clerk, and Walter Hayes, office deputy of the sheriff's department.

The last group of petit jurors for district court were not complete through an oversight on the part of the jury commission.

The list carried names and that was all. The address is very important since notices are sent through the mail. Gaston and Hayes are apprehensive about the coming lists of jurors, whether they carry addresses or not.

And they can't know until the time comes for the opening of each list. They anticipate spending a large amount of time in the tax assessor-collector's office determining addresses.

Corsicana Lauded For Vital Youth Work By Expert

America's youth is the salvation and assurance of democracy and Corsicana has made the right step with its Youth Council, Dr. Bernice Moore, renowned community and family life consultant, told that group Tuesday night in the YMCA.

"There is no more important time in producing adequate youth in America than now," she stated, urging understanding of the problems of the teen ager.

Here on a whirlwind three day consultation and evaluating program through the auspices of the Hogg Foundation of Austin and the Woman's Foundation of New York, she finished her stay Wednesday following luncheon with the Rotary club

"Youth councils let us know what is happening in the community. As you look at yourselves for what you are, be sure and laugh about it," she warned, stating that the tendency is to talk of what is wrong with a community instead of what is right with the community.

In her address, the speaker, who is also connected with the state board for vocational education and has served as an official of community and industrial youth and community groups, predicted that the current concentration on juvenile delinquency would change to the subject of divorce.

"Juvenile delinquency is youth trying to act like adults—that is the description given me by a young man and I think it is fitting."

Declaring that the American way is to become alarmed over a problem, talk about it, and finally produce action, she said that the nation is now doing something about juvenile delinquency, such as typified by the Corsicana Youth Council.

Periods of Adjustment

"Teen ages are a great periods of adjustment and periods of problems. It is a thrilling period, this period of growth. Be attentive and appreciative of youths when they explain their problems, don't laugh at them, but with them, and accept their problems with dignity and integrity for they are real problems."

Physical growth, the speaker said, is a part of the adjustment period and urged helping to make this stage of awkwardness easier through understanding

"The awkward stage leads many youths to believe they have inferiority complexes whereas it is merely a period when they are lacking in skills."

In comparing the importance of youth and adult behavior, she stated that the discipline of youth must become social discipline. In the past years there has been much study in human behavior, she said, and this information was being of great aid in solving problems.

Must Have Discipline

"Discipline is a part of human living. Those who fight against it are unhappy just as those who buckle completely under it are equally unhappy. Acceptance is the way to happy individual life."

Concentrating on the problems of teen agers, she warned against the habit of saying "no" without adequate thought and belabored the ancient concept of thrusting the subject of sex into dark recesses through fear.

"Fear on sexual behavior is as out of date as the horse and buggy. A behavior pattern in sex is better than fear. The thing we need for our teen agers is the normal acceptance of the relationship."

In closing, the speaker advised the local group to determine assets ani liabilities and then go out and get what is needed She urged reporting all findings to the public for the information of the nation as a whole.

Fourth Specialist Here

Dr. Moore marked the fourth specialist in community and family life field that has visited the city. Others have been Dr. R. L. Sutherland of the Hogg Foundation for Mental Hygiene, University of Texas, Austin; Dr. H. L. Pritchett, Southern Methodist university, Dallas; and Chester L. Bower, executive secretary of the community Council of Houston.

Dr Wells Stephens, president of the local council, led an open forum discussion following Dr. Moore's address. Prior to the speech the minutes were read by Mrs. W. D. Lamb and Miss Sarah Holman read the revised section on membership of the constitution and the revisions were approved.

W. H. Norwood, superintendent of schools, announced an investigation of the possibility of sending a teacher to a one year course in counselling and told the group that $500 would be needed to match a like Hogg Foundation grant, but that no teacher had been selected or had made application.

B. W. Woolley made a brief report on membership.

Publicity Committee

Dr. Stephens announced that Mrs Lynn A. Wortham and Mrs. John Binford had been named in charge of publicity for the council and expressed his thanks to the Daily Sun for its aid and excellent cooperation.

The visit of Dr. Moore was under the auspices of the Hogg Foundation and the Woman's Foundation. Corsicana is one of the cities in Texas cooperating in the community problem field.

Other cities in the state are Corpus Christi, Waco, Beaumont, the rural community of Slocum, and two neighborhoods in San Antonio. Dr. Moore will file a report of her findings to the two foundations and the results will be available to other cities in the nation who are interested in community problems.

Two Persons Are Injured In Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hooser of Frost were injured in an automobile accident near Hillsboro Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Hooser was admitted to a Hillsboro hospital and her husband was released after first aid.

The accident involved two automobiles and a truck. The driver of the other car was arrested and was charged with driving a car while intoxicated, reports from Hillsboro said.

15-Minute Parking Zone At Postoffice

Paint-brush-wielding city workmen Tuesday were breaking or gladdening the hearts of Corsicana motorists—depending, of course, on which side of the fence one stands.

They were painting the curbing around the U. S. postoffice a nice fresh white, and were to add signs informing that a 15-minute parking zone had been created.

All of the postoffice on the East side, and half of the south side comes under the 15-minute ruling.

Mrs. E. B. Dawson, teacher of the Home Builders' class, will speak on the subject of "God in His World" for the joint meeting of all adult women's classes of First Methodist church at the regular Sunday school hour
